A MAN IN ROCKLAND

Wanted to paint his house. His painter told him to buy Nine Gallons of Paint. The painter had never used Sherwin-Williams Co. Paints, but this Rockland man had good judgment and bought S. W. P. When the house was painted he had used only 5 1-2 gallons, and the painter claimed he had saved one day in putting it on. This man saved over 40 per cent by buying S. W. P.

BELL'S SEASONING

Has delicately flavored the Dressings of Turkey, Chicken, Game, Meats & Fish served in New England during the past 40 Years. It's the only original. Refuse substitutes.

MEAT OR TURKEY DRESSING (equally good when baked and served separately). Toast 7 or 8 slices of white bread. Place in a deep dish, adding butter size of an egg. Cover with hot water to melt butter and make bread right consistency. Add an even tablespoon of Bell's Seasoning, an even teaspoon salt, and a slice of salt pork, fried to a crisp and chopped fine. When well mixed, stir in 1 or 2 raw eggs. Bake in small pan.

NOTE: The above dressings may be improved, to some taste, by adding chopped nuts of any kind, chestnuts, peanuts, walnuts, etc. Others also give a fine flavor.

Remember, a 10c. can of Bell's Seasoning is sufficient to flavor the dressing for 100 lbs. of meat or poultry, and the 25c. can 300 lbs.

For Delicious Sausages, Flavor with Bell's Sausage Seasoning.

25c. and 50c. Cans; 6, 12 and 25 lb. Boxes; 50, 75 and 100 lb. Drums.

NEWSPAPER HISTORY

The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The paper was established in 1850, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

Nature is just toward men. It recompenses them for sufferings; it renders them laborious, and to the greatest toil it attaches the greatest rewards.—Montesquieu.

Elihu Root, former Secretary of State, says the best candidate for the United States Senate from New York. This is pleasing reading for Timothy Woodruff.

The New York Shipbuilding Co. of Camden, N. J., gets the contract for building the battleship Utah, its bid being $3,346,000. The battleship is to have a speed of 20 3-4 knots and a displacement of 21,325 tons.

Good news—and bad—for Thanksgiving. The cranberry district of Massachusetts. The good tidings are that the berries are plentiful and of good quality, and the bad news—that the housewives—that the prices are high. It is estimated that the total yield of Cape Cod and Plymouth County this season will exceed 125,000 barrels. This compares with last year's crop of 111,365 barrels. Prices are about the same as in 1907, from $5 to $8 a barrel.

The Christian Civic League met in Waterville last week and went on record as opposing resubmission and the repeal of the Sturges law. The League seeks the repeal of that section of the prohibitory statute which leaves it optional with the court to apply a jail sentence. The purpose of the League is to change the law so as to make the imprisonment mandatory. There was also a discussion on the standard of percentage of alcohol used in beverages. In Massachusetts it is 1 per cent, and in Oklahoma it is one-half of 1 per cent. It was the opinion of the directors that the standard in this state should be changed to 1 per cent.

Dr. Landone, who plans to improve the human race by Burbank's plant theories in the rearing of children, in a recent interview dwelt on the value of cultivation love and cheerfulness, good thoughts toward mankind. "For," he said, "the body is a substance composed of chemicals and these chemicals are at the mercy of the emotions. Anger, hatred and sorrow poison the fluids of the body, while love, cheerfulness and happiness serve as eliminators of emotive and fatigue poisons. Pleasure stimulates, that's why when we are tired and worn an evening of gay dancing to music will remove all signs of fatigue and one will sleep better and be more rested than if one were to attempt to sleep fatigued off."

Owners of some apartment houses in St. Louis have added a clause to their leases which reads as follows: "And it is further agreed by and between both parties that, shall the lessee cook or permit to be cooked in the said premises any onions, cabbage or other odorous vegetables or anything which shall penetrate the common halls of the premises, either in odor or smoke, this lease shall be void." This looks like an attempt to deprive the family of the natural right to enjoy what they like at their own table, but it has been decided that it is good law. One of the legal opinions given says: "The restrictions are in the mutual interest of tenants. They prohibit certain things which would tend to disturb the dwellers in the apartments." In several apartment houses in that city the "no children" clause is in force. It aroused some opposition when first adopted, but it holds good.

Will William H. Taft be the 26th or 27th President of the United States? is a question interesting some idle minds, as it has every time a new President has been elected since the administration of Benjamin Harrison. Cleveland at his first election was the 22d President. All at this. This looks like an attempt to deprive the family of the natural right to enjoy what they like at their own table, but it has been decided that it is good law. One of the legal opinions given says: "The restrictions are in the mutual interest of tenants. They prohibit certain things which would tend to disturb the dwellers in the apartments." In several apartment houses in that city the "no children" clause is in force. It aroused some opposition when first adopted, but it holds good.

Postmaster General Meyer announces that the postal deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1908, amounted to $16,910,273. The receipts were $191,478,633 being $7,893,657 greater than the previous year, and the expenditures $208,388,910. The deficit is the largest in the history of the postoffice department. An analysis of the figures shows that $9,891,321 represents the advance in rate of compensation authorized by Congress for employees in various departments. The postmaster general said that in his annual report he would call the attention of Congress to the fact that he is "firmly convinced that the establishment of a special local parcel post confined to rural routes would tend to wipe out the postal deficit and would finally make the rural delivery self sustaining besides being of convenience to the farmer and a boon to the retail country merchant."

Launching a Battleship

T. Raymond Pierce Tells Our Readers About the North Dakota's Maiden Dip.

Among the early recollections of my childhood, one of the events which stands out the most prominently is a drive to Thomaston with my grandfather to witness the launching of a vessel from the yards of the Captain W. H. H. It was my first launching, and I well remember the wonder which it excited in me when the majestic ship slid smoothly down the ways, without toppling over on one side as it seemed to me that she must.

Since that time it has been my good fortune to be present at many launchings. If memory serves me rightly, I was launched on the first six-masted schooner in the world from Capt. Bean's yard in Camden, about the middle of the nineteenth century. Some eight years ago I had the privilege of describing to the readers of The Courier-Gazette the launching of the largest ever carrying vessel which had ever been constructed in the Great Lakes, which my readers may recall was launched sideways into a dock, instead of lengthwise as on the coast of Maine and Massachusetts.

At the time the privilege which I had enjoyed, an opportunity to witness the launching of the largest battleship ever constructed in this country was not to be allowed to pass without an effort at least to be "among those present." The opportunity presented itself today, when the battleship North Dakota was to be launched from the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. at Quincy.

The launching of a warship is always an event of great importance and on this occasion the maiden dip of the largest fighting machine this country has ever produced has been made an occasion of unusual preparation by the officials of the company which constructed her.

First, attention was directed to the executive of the state for which the battleship is named and her sponsor who was chosen from among the young ladies of that state. A special train from the South Station in Boston came to bring Governor John Burke, the members of his staff, Miss Mary Benton, who was to christen the ship, and a large number of other prominent people from North Dakota to Quincy.

The party arrived this morning in Boston and about 10.30 a special train of invited guests accompanied them from the South Station to the yard. The shipyard is about one and one-half miles from the center of the city of Quincy and is reached by a circuitous route on the railroad by the way of Braintree. The special train was run directly into the yard and the guests alighted a short distance from where the platform had been erected for their convenience. The platform, more than twenty feet above the ground, brought the guests right to the nose of the hull and two small platforms were erected on the largest of the ship's guns.

The ship itself had been constructed beneath a great network of steel on which powerful traveling cranes run back and forth, carrying the huge plate and trusses which enter into its construction. The launching, more than a mile from the center of the city of Quincy and is reached by a circuitous route on the railroad by the way of Braintree. The special train was run directly into the yard and the guests alighted a short distance from where the platform had been erected for their convenience. The platform, more than twenty feet above the ground, brought the guests right to the nose of the hull and two small platforms were erected on the largest of the ship's guns.

As only the shell of the hull is completed, the armor plate not being attached nor any of the machinery or equipment installed, no one except employees of the construction company was allowed on board, but from every vantage point, as far away as the fog would allow a clear view, thousands had gathered to witness the magnificent spectacle. Admission to the yard was by card only, but outside the mullers had just as an opportunity to see as those in the yard and much better than those on the special platform, which being right at the bow only allowed a view of the ship as she receded and gave no opportunity to see her take the water.

The removal of the blocks was under way when we arrived and it was intended that the launching should take place as near noon as possible, but in a work of such magnitude the exact time could not be accurately foretold. The moon shone without any sign that the moment of her plunge was at hand. By this time the Governor of North Dakota and his staff and Miss Benton had taken their places on the christening stand with President Francis T. Bowles of the Fore River company. The platform was comfortably filled with naval men, both active and retired, foreign embassy attaches, and special guests. All the cameras were focused on Miss Benton and watches were in hand to time the first quiver of the vessel's frame. Just at this time a gentleman standing by pointed to the thousands of people surrounding the ship as she stood on the ways, and asked:

"What would happen if something went wrong now?" I could only answer him as Capt. H. M. Bean answered me once a long time ago when I asked him the same question: "Nothing ever has!"

The noise of the saws separating the last link which held the ship in captivity ceased about 12.32.30 and at just 12.37 the first "thrill of life" seemed to quicken the blood of everyone who was waiting the auspicious moment.

In a twinkling Miss Benton had crashed the bottle of sparkling wine against the hull with the words, "I christen thee North Dakota!" and the ship was under way.

Majestically is the only word in the English language possessing a meaning comprehensive enough to characterize the way in which this mighty vessel set sail down the ways. Not a quiver was noticeable as she slowly receded from us and passed into the element on which she will go forth to carry the message of peace or perchance the vengeance of war. No water craft of any size, pleasure or merchant transport, ever glided down the ways with less friction than this steel monster, of the vessel, sixty per cent completed, within 10 3-4 months of the laying of keel, constitutes a record, as other records made abroad of eight months were in cases where the vessel was launched in a lesser state of completion.

A great deal has been said in the newspapers in connection with the armament of the North Dakota, about the enormous cost and the short life of the guns. One writer stated that after two hours continuous firing, the guns would be worn out and useless. I asked a high official of the navy regarding this statement and he says that it is untrue. He states that after a certain period of use, the bore of the gun becomes worn so that it is not accurate, but there is no question of the safety of the gun. It is simply removed and repaired, so to speak, as I have forgotten just the process to which it is subjected, and then it is ready for use again.

Further, this same official tells me that a great deal which has got into print concerning the recent Newport conference is misleading and that the actual facts are far from being as represented. It will be recalled that some critics have gone so far as to state that this very North Dakota is a failure from a structural standpoint. All the same I am willing to give her the right of way on the high seas, no matter in what manner of craft I happen to be cruising.

The North Dakota will be completed and ready for her trial some time early in 1910, when unless the plans of the navy department are changed she will naturally have her test on the Ovi's Head course. Congress appropriated $10,000,000 for this warship, but estimates are made that she will be completed inside of $9,000,000.

Ten years ago the whole country resounded with the praise of the battleship Oregon for its race around the Horn and its appearance at an opportune moment in Cuban waters. Twenty years from today the battleship North Dakota will be as obsolete and forgotten as the Oregon is today.

NEXT YEAR'S FESTIVAL.

Director Chapman to Eclipse All Triumphs By Producing An Act From Parsifal.

Director Chapman eclipses all chorus work for festival of 1909. He will produce an act from Parsifal by Wagner, one great score from four of Elgar's great oratorios, The Dream of Gerontius, King Olaf, The Banner of St. George, and The Light of the World. Also, one score from Shubert Mater by Dvorak, together with the great dramatic cantata, Song of Promise, by the late John Knowles Paine, professor of music at Harvard.

This work was written at the request of Theodore Thomas, and produced with immense success at the Cincinnati festival. Mr. Chapman takes special pride in producing this work, as Mr. Paine stands as one of the foremost of American composers, and too few little realize that he was a Maine man.

Also to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Mendelssohn the Cantata Hymn of Praise by Mendelssohn will be sung, together with lighter works, which include The Spring Waltz by A. J. Davis, Mighty Lika a Rose, and The Night has a Thousand Eyes by Nevin, Blow Ye Gentle Breezes by Marks, and Song of the Vikings by Fanning, an Ave Maria by Marchetti, for women's voices, together with the Barcarolle, from Contes d'Hoffmann by Offenbach, that made such a furor in New York last season.

Also Mr. Chapman is negotiating to produce one act from Salome by Richard Strauss which is practically assured. What a privilege the singers of Maine have in studying these up-to-date programmes. Wagner, Elgar, Dvorak and Strauss, the four great modern composers of the world, acts from the opera and the scene from the Oratorio and Stabat Mater, together with the two cantatas, The Hymn of Praise by Mendelssohn and the Song of Promise by John Knowles Paine, will place the chorus in evidence more than any other festival during the past 12 years.

This will give the State of Maine the same opportunity of studying the great masters the same as the greatest musical centers of the world, namely, London, Berlin, Vienna and New York. Truly Director Chapman deserves more than a word of praise in arranging these wonderful programmes, and one little realizes the amount of work and the difficulty in getting them, as most of this year's music is published in Europe, and has required no little effort on his part to procure the right to produce the same, especially the Parsifal and the Strauss and Elgar works, which are very expensive.

Let every singer in Maine appreciate his efforts by joining the choruses and do their part to maintain the high standard that Mr. Chapman has always placed before them. The festival of 1909 will surely eclipse all records.

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Doctor Said Mr. Lucier's Stomach Was Worn Out, Out Mi-o-na Cured Her.

Why, oh why will people of intelligence continue to suffer with dyspepsia or distressing stomach troubles, when Mi-o-na, the only scientific remedy, has a record of thousands of just such cures as the following:

"I was near to death's door. The doctor said he had done all he could; that my stomach was old and worn out. I was so weak I could not walk. I took Mi-o-na, a vial, and have been eating hearty ever since and I am able to work like a tiger. I write you my picture, and you can use my word and my picture, and I thank you again."—Mrs. Nelson Lucier, 112 Flisk street, Athol, Mass.

Mi-o-na cures dyspepsia. There isn't a particle of doubt about it; and if any of the readers of the Courier-Gazette are suffering from stomach trouble of any kind, C. H. Pendleton, druggist and optician and W. H. Kiltredge, druggist, will sell you a box of Mi-o-na for 50 cents with an absolute guarantee of relief, or money back. In many cases one box will effect a permanent cure; in chronic conditions more is necessary. But one thing is certain: one box of Mi-o-na will make you feel so much better and brighter, so much more energetic, that you will not give it up till cured.

Mi-o-na is not a digester. Digesters never cured dyspepsia, and never will. Mi-o-na is a stomach strengthener that builds up the worn out, flabby inside of the stomach, and makes the stomach strong enough to perfectly digest what you eat.

Dorando, the Italian runner who made such a sensational finish in the Marathon race held at London last summer, left Southampton Wednesday for New York on board the steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie. He is accompanied by his brother Ulpino, who is a waiter in a London restaurant. Dorando will run a race in America with John J. Hayes, the winner of the Maratons. He is in good training and confident of victory and will continue his training on board the steamer.

Up to her chamber window
A slight wind trails goes
And up this Romeo's ladder
Clambered a soft white rose.

I lounge in the lux shadows,
I see the lady lean,
Unclassing her silken girdle,
The curtain folds between.

She smiles on her white rose lover;
She reaches out her hand
And helps him in at the window—
I see it where I stand!

To her scarlet lips she holds him
And kisses him many a time—
A kiss, was it not a kiss?
Because he dared to climb!

Some day or other I shall surely come
Where true hearts wait for me;
Then let me learn the language of that home
While here on earth I lie,
Lest my poor lips for want of words be dumb
In that high company.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, November 17, 1908.
Personally appeared Harold G. Cole, who on oath declares: That he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of November 14, 1908, there was printed a total of 4,129 copies before me:

Now that the returns of the Presidential election are practically all in it appears that Bryan was a worse beaten candidate than he had been on the other two occasions. The popular plurality for Taft will be about 1,250,000, which is nearly 50 per cent greater than McKinley's plurality over him in 1900. Mr. Bryan's Commoner doesn't appear to have converted his shrewd publisher into a rich man.

The new state of Oklahoma isn't quite such a wayward youngster as we thought for. Instead of giving that 40,000 plurality for Bryan, as claimed, it seems that there was a Democratic plurality of only 12,000. Even more gratifying is the statement that a majority of the five Congressmen-elect are Republicans.

Exorbitant prices are sometimes paid for pets, but the North Orland cat which was set adrift by an overturned lamp and ran into a haymow, there starting a conflagration that destroyed an entire set of farm buildings, probably holds the record in this state.

Intense as the interest is in a Presidential election it is doubtful if there were more inquiries as to the result than there will be throughout the eastern country as to the score of the Harvard and Yale football game next Saturday.

With politics almost forgotten in every other quarter of the state Portland is just entering upon its municipal campaign. The mayor there is elected in December.

WANT THE REWARD.

It is understood that a hearing will be held before the Governor and Council Thursday for the purpose of determining the disposition of the reward offered for the arrest of Frank Baldasari, the Croton Island fratricide, who was recently sentenced to ten years in the state prison at Thomaston. Inspector Knudde and Patrolman Donovan of Bangor who arrested the Italian in that city will put in a claim for the reward. Sheriff Mayo of Hancock county notified Chief Bowen of Bangor that the man was on his way to that city, and the two officers mentioned above nabbed Baldasari as he left the steamer Tremont at the wharf.

The Home Herald Co., a Chicago Bible concern, wants information as to the whereabouts of one Edward Dumont, a plausible young man who made his headquarters in Rockland during the summer, representing the company. Dumont had a theatrical bee in his bonnet and if his plans and promises had been carried out a very large percentage of our citizens would by this time have been winning his trionfante fame on amateur stages. But the great Dumont sold out very gracefully and even more quietly on one fine day, leaving a number of persons to express genuine regret at his departure. One of the latter was Dr. J. A. Fitch, at whose home Dumont boarded during his stay here and who has added a considerable sum to his profit and loss column as the result of the confidence he placed in the actor-book agent. When last heard from Dumont had applied for membership in the New York Y. M. C. A., giving Secretary Brunberg's name for references. In response to the New York secretary's inquiry Mr. Brunberg gave a reply so discreet that it is doubtful if Dumont will impose greatly on St. Dumont also undertook to work up a large bill at a local livery stable, but the proprietor grew suspicious in the nick of time.

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram," originally booked at Farwell opera house for next Monday will be given Saturday afternoon and evening of this week, instead. The management asks no better recommendation than the matinee will give this comedy.

The last load of gravel was deposited on the city's new state road at Lake avenue Friday and that highway is now completed. Road Commissioner McNamara invites public inspection, confident in his own mind that the work will invoke naught but favorable criticism.

The methods of a powerful political boss, who found a young man too brave and conscientious to yield to his threats or persuasions from the groundwork for that great four-act play, "The Man of the Hour," which is to be presented at the opera house tomorrow evening.

The sale of seats for "The Man of the Hour" opened very briskly at Farwell opera house yesterday morning. Every indication points to a fulfillment of the prophecy that the play will have the largest house of the season. A similar record is being established in every city of Maine where this play has shown.

"The Man of the Hour" which appears at Farwell opera house tomorrow evening carries more scenery, it is said, than any other attraction which has ever been presented there. Manager Eugeley personally guarantees that every place will be used, the scenery being of a character that makes this possible in our opera house. Nothing adds more to the effectiveness of a good play than having it staged with plenty of first-class scenery.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

A feature of the N. A. Burpee Hose Co.'s levee and ball on Thanksgiving night will be the prize waltz, which will be danced after the intermission. The orchestra has been engaged. The Burpee will offer large combination tickets to their patrons.

The Eastern Star will furnish a supper with plates for 175 guests.

The government is making preparations to erect a 35 foot spindle on Emery ledge near Crescent Beach. This obstruction, which has brought grief to many craft in past years, was uncharted until very recently when the coast survey crew made an examination of the locality. The spindle will be sunk three feet into the solid ledge and will be 10 inches in diameter at the base. Messrs. Smith, Hamilton and Armstrong who have been employed by the government to perform this task are making their headquarters at the Crescent Beach House.

William A. McLain, Jr., Bert Mullen, Ross Wilson and Ned Veale saw the Maine-Bowdoin football game at Orono Saturday, making the journey in Mr. McLain's auto. They left here Friday afternoon and took in some of the attractions of Bangor before proceeding to the game. Saturday evening they consulted the skies and the weather bureau and failed to read aright the signs of the approaching storm, so they concluded to remain in Bangor until Sunday morning. The return trip on that day was over the muddest kind of roads, but they arrived in good season, well satisfied with their outing.

The Rockland Commercial College reports an unusually large attendance and new students are entering daily. All of the surrounding towns are represented; the new pupils recently enrolled are: Almon B. Cooper, North Haven; Josephine L. Jones, Vinland; Oliver R. The musical comedy sketch by Wells and Fish of Camden will be one of the best old features at the Uniform Rank minstrel entertainment in Farwell opera house Christmas afternoon and evening. Both men are artists.

Among those invited by Governor Cobb to attend the New England Convention under the auspices of the New England governors, in Boston, Nov. 23-24 are Hon. Obadiah Gardner and James Donohue, Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries. Several notable speakers are to be present and lots of practical problems will be discussed.

Former Mayor Albert W. Butler is one of the four delegates named by Governor Cobb to attend the fifth annual convention of the National River and Harbor Congress, to be held at Washington, D. C., Dec. 9-11. The other Maine delegates are E. W. Clark, Portland; Samuel R. Percy, Bath; and Henry Lord, Bangor. The object of the convention is to have Congress by legislative action adopt and put into effect a waterway policy that will immediately benefit the deserving waterways of the entire country.

The annual gymnasium banquet was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening with about 60 young men in attendance. A report of the first trial appears elsewhere in this paper.

Venison continues to be a popular article of food on the table of Fred M. Smith, proprietor of the Crescent Beach House. Mr. Smith was one of a party of eight which recently camped near Somerset Junction and shot 14 deer. Mr. Smith's claims back two deer and a bushel or two of camp anecdotes.

The monthly banquet of the Baptist Men's League takes place tomorrow, and members should make a special effort to be present as it is the annual meeting and officers are to be elected. The after-dinner speaker will be Prof. Frank D. Tubbs of Bates college. His subject "Mexico" is one that bespeaks an interesting address.

That most of us are not too well acquainted with.

Cochran, Baker & Cross call our attention to the fact that the New England Insurance Exchange has recently published new rates for fire insurance on mercantile and manufacturing property (dwellings not affected) giving 30 percent reduction for the use in the policies of the 80 percent reduced rate clause. Without the clause, if a man insures for but 50 percent of his value, it is as disastrous for the companies whether he has a 50 percent damage or a total loss, for in either event the loss under the policy is the same—total. If, on the other hand, his neighbor insures for 100 percent and has a 50 percent loss, there is double the amount of insurance to bear the loss, and each company is called on to pay not a total but a 50 percent loss. Therefore, it is manifestly unfair to charge each of these men the same rate. The reduced rate clause makes it possible for the companies to allow a man who carries insurance equal to 80 percent of the value of his property a rate 30 percent lower than otherwise. The clause is by no means new and untried but has been in general use throughout New England for about fifteen years. Until now, however, Maine has been allowed but one-half the present reduction for its use. It seems, therefore, to be for the interest of the insuring public to carry insurance equal to 80 percent or more of the value of their property, include the clause in their policies, obtain a 30 percent reduction from the rate otherwise charged, and secure ample protection from both small fires and sweeping conflagrations.

The food fair committee of the M. E. church will hold its weekly meeting this evening at 8.30.

There will be a meeting of the Chickawake Lake Fish Association at Orel E. Davies' Jeweler store on evening.

Simmons, Miss Mildred Simmons, Miss Martha Hall, Miss Alice Wardwell, Miss Florence Thomas, Charles E. Bicknell, Walter E. Weeks, Wyman F. Cushman, Joseph Brazier, Harold Karl, P. A. Winslow, Donald Karl, William Baker, William Backliffe, Robert Adams, Carl Blackington, Dr. H. B. Eaton, Frank Campbell and Austin Richardson. Most of the above named parties made the trip on the steamer W. G. Butman, arriving on the ground at Orono just as the whistle sounded for the game to begin. Judge L. R. Campbell and Frank B. Miller, who were also of the excursion party, remained in Bangor, where they had business to transact. Although it meant a round trip journey of about 140 miles, accomplished between the hours of 7.15 a. m. Saturday and 1 p. m. Sunday the excursionists found it a very enjoyable outing, the bay and river being as smooth as in any summer day. Among the Bowdoin students who attended the game, going from Brunswick by special train, were D. Scribner Hyler, Fred Black and Earl Maloney. It goes without saying that they derived more satisfaction from this game than they did from the Bates-Bowdoin game of the previous Saturday. The Rockland people received a cordial welcome from the Rockland students at Orono, and some were entertained during their brief stay at the various Chapter houses.

"The Man of the Hour" was produced in Bath Thursday night and the Bath Times had the following to say: "Bath theatregoers were given a treat last evening by Messrs. William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer in the production of 'The Man of the Hour' which which hangs long on their memory. Notwithstanding the stormy weather, the theatre was crowded to the doors. The play was presented by a company of artists and every character was true to life. Curtain calls were demanded at the end of each act and at the end of the last act. It was one of the best staged productions ever given in the Columbia Theatre. The stage settings were perfect. Every scene, even to the minor stage properties, was carried by the company. The attendance demonstrated the claim of the Times that Bath is one of the best one-night stands in New England and can be depended upon to extend liberal support to first class attractions and will gladly pay the big city prices for the real thing."

BREACH OF PROMISE

Interesting Developments in Case of Young vs. Ingraham—New Trial Ordered.

The mock trial under the auspices of Amicus Hook & Ladder Co. Friday evening was one of the most successful events of that kind that has been held here for many years. The case on trial was a breach of promise suit in the sum of $25,000, the plaintiff being Miss Elizabeth F. Young and the defendant Edward C. Ingraham. Judge L. R. Campbell was the presiding justice and his shafts of wit brought down the house. The other court officials were A. J. Tolman, sheriff, Frank B. Miller, clerk, Miss Olive Maguire stenographer and Ralph W. Richards deputy sheriff. They all contributed to the amusement of the occasion. Fuller C. Blackington was counsel for the fair plaintiff and it was apparent to all present that he had missed his calling by not being a lawyer. He certainly filled the part to perfection. It was alleged on the part of his client that Ingraham had not only promised to marry her but had bought the wedding hat and himself a pair of wedding shoes. Mrs. M. A. Johnson and E. Roy Smith were put on the stand in proof of this claim. The defense was a complete denial of promise to wed, together with a claim that the plaintiff was taking this means to obtain part of the defendant's wealth. The defense was conducted by Clifford B. Butler, who displayed all the keenness and eloquence of a real barrister. The witnesses for the defense were Patrolman Ladd, Fred Ward and James Turner. Mr. Turner was the star witness and kept the "court room" convulsed with laughter. The jury was drawn as follows: George A. Flint, foreman; John A. Karl, T. S. McIntosh, C. H. Nye, L. A. Chase, Harmon L. Davis, I. B. Simmons, John E. Doherty, John T. Berry, C. W. Gale, C. H. Merfield and F. A. Winslow. They found Ingraham guilty, and assessed damages in the sum of $25,000.

An appeal was entered and the Bangs law court has already handed down a decree ordering a new trial. The case is assigned for next Friday evening at Armory hall and will be called at 7.45. Some new and interesting evidence will be produced.

Indoor baseball is having quite a run in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Secretary Brumberg's batting has improved markedly with the large ball used in the indoor games.

FIRE IN FRIENDSHIP.

Two houses and a barn in Friendship village were destroyed by fire Friday night. The fire originated about 9 o'clock in the house owned and occupied by Mrs. Mary Stanley while the family was at church. The house was valued at about $3000 and was a total loss. Maurice Morton's house and barn valued at about $1500 were also destroyed. Insured for about $900. The Methodist church, Advent church and several houses nearby also caught fire but were saved by a volunteer fire department with but little damage. For a while there was much excitement.

Ex-Alderman Justin L. Cross had a narrow escape from being crushed to death while riding in his truck wagon under the trestlework near the McLean wharf yesterday forenoon. Unknown to Mr. Cross arrangements were being made to dump a carload of chips from the truck 50 feet above him. The man who was supposed to be standing guard on the ground gave no warning, and afterward said that he did not suppose the crew was ready to dump the car. Hardened into a mass by the cold weather the contents of the car did not immediately empty themselves, but a few scattering pieces rattled from the car and struck Mr. Cross' horse on the back. That act undoubtedly saved the driver's life, for the horse bolted ahead, and most of the chips fell into the truck wagon, breaking into smithereens some windows Mr. Cross was hauling. When the shower of stones began Mr. Cross instinctively threw up his right arm to protect his head. The arm was fairly numbed and one side of his face was slightly cut. A box located on the side of the driver's seat was filled with chips, showing what a narrow escape he had. It made Justin think of his experience 25 years ago, when he was severely injured three times in one year.

THE CAMDEN'S SISTER.

Turbine Steamer City of Belfast Successfully Launched at Bath.

The launching of the steamer Belfast from the yard of the Bath Iron Works Thursday afternoon was one of the most successful of the long list of launchings on the Kennebec.

The launching platform was occupied by a Belfast delegation, steamboat officials and a few friends.

Miss Carrie M. Greenlaw carried out her instructions as to the christening ceremony perfectly and at the first blow with the gaily decorated bottle of American champagne, the contents baptized not only the stem but several workmen on the staging below. The Belfast delegation gave the craft a hearty salute as she went down the ways without a quiver and at a very rapid rate of speed.

It was one of the prettiest launchings ever witnessed in Bath, and was within two minutes of the time.

The Belfast is a sister ship to the Camden and it is expected that she will be ready for commission the first of next June. The exterior wood work is practically completed and all the interior woodwork is in the shop ready for installation. The boilers are finished and the work is well under way on the engines.

The Belfast is a steel and freight passenger steamer built for the Eastern Steamship Co. She is a sister ship to the Camden, now wintering at Bath.

The Belfast is 235 feet long over all, 320 feet long on the water line, 14 feet 2 inches beam over the guards, 40 feet beam moulded, 17 feet depth moulded, and is to have a mean draft with freight, passengers and coal, of ten feet. Her arrangement is similar to that of most vessels of this class. She carries her freight forward on the main deck, the after end of the main deck being devoted to a social hall, part of which will be the dining saloon. The next deck above, the saloon deck, is devoted to staterooms, as is the upper or gallery deck. There are large wells in the saloon deck surrounded by a bronze railing finished in green, and the ceiling over the gallery deck has a dome.

The hull is entirely constructed of steel with numerous water-tight bulkheads and the fire rooms are entirely enclosed in steel. The dining room on the main deck is a very spacious apartment and has extra windows. The guests are to be seated at small tables. The social hall is to be floored with interlocking rubber tiling and to be finished in mahogany. The purser's office opens from the social hall. The balance of the joiner work is to be finished in white, and all of the fittings, such as electric light fixtures and hardware, will be in bronze and antique. The general tone of the interior will be white and green.

The Belfast will have 204 staterooms. Provision is made for those not desiring staterooms, there being 135 berths below the main deck forward for men and 47 berths below the dining saloon aft for women. The galley, or kitchen, which will be equipped with the usual ranges, steam tables, etc., is below the social hall and is entered from the dining room by a broad stairway. Ample provision has been made for ventilation.

The Belfast will have two pole masts of steel and two smokestacks. A somewhat novel arrangement is that of the guards, which, instead of being supported by diagonal braces, as is usually the case, are supported by bent frames, the shell plating being carried out over them so as to present a smooth surface to the sea, also providing buoyancy. The Belfast is to be thoroughly equipped with life boats, life preservers, fire handling apparatus, etc. The steamer will be, of course, heated throughout with steam. Much attention has been paid to the arrangement of the steam heat in order to provide an equitable and comfortable temperature in all seasons. Close attention has also been paid to the matter of ventilation. The Belfast is to be propelled by three screws driven by Parsons marine turbines, the high pressure turbine being on the middle shaft and the low pressure turbines on the side or wing shafts. The low pressure turbines are equipped with backing gear so that the two outboard propellers may be reversed. The outboard shafts are arranged to be somewhat widely apart in order to provide ease in handling. The turbine mechanism is equipped with the usual condenser, air pumps, circulating pumps, oil pumps, etc.

Steam is to be furnished by four three-furnace Scotch boilers 14 feet, 6 inches in diameter and 12 feet long, built for 150 pounds working pressure. The Ellis & Hayes system of hot draft is to be installed. The propelling installation of the Belfast is expected to develop about 4000 horsepower, which will produce a speed of seventeen knots.

Poley's Honey and Tar clears the air passages, stops the irritation in the throat, soothes the inflamed membranes, and the most obstinate cough disappears. Sore and inflamed lungs are healed and strengthened, and the cold is expelled from the system. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. Sold by all druggists.

You have determined to insure Some day. Let This be the day, it may be too late some other day

Prompt action is desirable (1) because the older a man grows the higher the charges, and (2) because delays are dangerous. Upwards of 6,000 of the Society's policyholders died in 1904, if these men had been insured for less than a year, in one case the insurance had run for only four days.

Many persons who could have obtained policies when first invited to insure were declined by the Society in 1907 on account of impaired health.

ITS HISTORY

How Texas Charlie's Life Was Saved by the Indians

Adventures of a U. S. Government Scout. The Same Remedy That Effectuated His Cure Now Used Throughout the Civilized World.

Some years ago Mr. Chas. Bigelow, now one of the proprietors of the famous Kickapoo Indian Remedies, was acting as a government scout in the Indian territory. He was known at that time as "Texas Charlie," and while on one of his expeditions was taken sick with a severe fever, and for a few days lay at death's door. During his sickness he was cared for by an Indian Chief and his family, in whose lodge he lay, so weak that he could hardly raise his eyelids. An Indian doctor visited him, and gave him that now famous remedy of Indian Remedies, Sagwa, and by its use he was snatched from the jaws of death and restored to health, owing his life to the wonderful efficacy and curative power of this medicine. He then endeavored to persuade the Indians to give to him their secret of its ingredients. This at first they refused to do, but after much persuasion and many discussions they at last partially yielded to his request, and the Chief of the Tribe sent East with Mr. Bigelow, five of his most renowned medicine-men, together with an ample supply of roots, herbs, barks, gums, etc., used in the manufacture of their medicines. What started thus in a small way, has ever since increased, and today there is manufactured from similar materials, their famous remedies, which have done so much to alleviate suffering of every description. Throughout the civilized world there is no more potent remedy known for diseases resulting from a disordered condition of the kidneys, liver, stomach or blood, than Kickapoo Sagwa. This, together with their Kickapoo Worm Killer, Kickapoo Salve, Kickapoo Oil, Kickapoo Pills and Kickapoo Suppositories, make a list of remedies that will accomplish a cure in all classes of sickness. The Kickapoo Indian Medicine Company will exhibit their collection of Indian curiosities with real live Indians at

BREACH OF PROMISE

Interesting Developments In Case of Young vs. Ingraham—New Trial Ordered.

The mock trial under the auspices of American Hook & Ladder Co. Friday evening was one of the most successful events of that kind that has been held here for many years. The case on trial was a breach of promise suit in the sum of $25,000, the plaintiff being Miss Elizabeth F. Young and the defendant Edward C. Ingraham. Judge L. R. Campbell was the presiding justice and his staff of law brought down the house. The other court officials were A. J. Tolman sheriff, Frank B. Miller clerk, Miss Olive Maguire stenographer and Ralph W. Richards deputy sheriff. They all contributed to the amusement of the occasion. Fuller C. Blackington was counsel for the fair plaintiff and it was apparent to all present that he had missed his calling by not being a lawyer. He certainly filled the part to perfection. It was alleged on the part of his client that Ingraham had not only promised to marry her but had bought the wedding hat and himself a pair of wedding shoes. Mrs. M. A. Johnson and E. Roy Smith were put on the stand in proof of this claim. The defense was a complete denial of promise to wed, together with a claim that the plaintiff was taking this means to obtain part of the defendant's wealth. The defense was conducted by Gilford B. Butler, who displayed all the keenness and eloquence of a real barrister. The witnesses for the defense were Patrolman Ladd, Fred Ward and James Turner. Mr. Turner was the star witness and kept the "court room" convulsed with laughter. The jury was drawn as follows: George A. Flint, foreman; John A. Karl, T. S. McIntosh, C. H. Nye, L. A. Chase, Harmon L. Davis, I. B. Simmons, John E. Doherty, John T. Berry, C. W. Gale, C. H. Merfield and E. A. Winslow. They found Ingraham guilty, and assessed damages in the sum of $20,000.

An appeal was entered and the Bangville law court has already handed down a decree ordering a new trial. The case is assigned for next Friday evening at Armory hall and will be called at 7:45. Some new and interesting evidence will be produced.

Indoor baseball is having quite a run in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Secretary Drumbo's batting has improved marvelously with the large ball used in the indoor games.

FIRE IN FRIENDSHIP.

Two houses and a barn in Friendship village were destroyed by fire Friday night. The fire originated about 9 o'clock in the house owned and occupied by Mrs. Mary Stanley while the family was at church. The house was valued at about $3000 and was a total loss. Maurice Morton's house and barn valued at about $1500 were also destroyed. Insured for about $900. The Methodist church, Advent church, and several houses nearby also caught fire but were saved by a volunteer fire department with but little damage. For a while there was much excitement.

Ex-Alderman Justin L. Cross had a narrow escape from being crushed to death while riding on his truck wagon under the trestlework near the McLean wharf yesterday forenoon. Unknown to Mr. Cross arrangements were being made to dump a carload of chips from the truck 50 feet above him. The man who was supposed to be standing guard on the ground gave no warning, and afterward said that he did not suppose the crew was ready to dump the car. Hardened into a mass by the cold weather the contents of the car did not immediately empty themselves, but a few scattering pieces rattled from the car and struck Mr. Cross' horse on the back. That act undoubtedly saved the driver's life, for the horse bolted ahead, and most of the chips fell into the truck wagon, breaking into smithereens some windows Mr. Cross was hauling. When the shower of stones began Mr. Cross instinctively threw up his right arm to protect his head. The arm was fairly numbed and one side of his face was slightly cut. A box located on the side of the driver's seat was filled with chips, showing what a narrow escape he had. It made Justin think of his experience 25 years ago, when he was severely injured three times in one year.

THE CAMDEN'S SISTER.

Turbine Steamer City of Belfast Successfully Launched at Bath.

The launching of the steamer Belfast from the yard of the Bath Iron Works Thursday afternoon was one of the most successful of the long list of launches on the Kennebec.

The launching platform was occupied by a Belfast delegation, steamboat officials and a few friends.

Miss Carrie M. Greenlaw carried out her instructions as to the christening ceremony perfectly and at the first blow with the gayly decorated bottle of American champagne, the contents splashed not only the stem but several workmen on the staging below. The Belfast delegation gave the craft a hearty salute as she went down the ways without quiver and at a very rapid rate of speed.

It was one of the prettiest launches ever witnessed in Bath, and was within two minutes of the time.

The Belfast is a sister ship to the Camden and it is expected that she will be ready for commission the first of next June. The exterior wood work is practically completed and all the interior woodwork is in the shop ready for installation. The boilers are finished and the work is well under way on the engines.

The Belfast is a steel and freight passenger steamer built for the Eastern Steamship Co. She is a sister ship to the Camden, now wintering at Bath.

The Belfast is 335 feet long over all, 320 feet long on the water line, 44 feet 2 inches beam over the guards, 40 feet beam moulded, 17 feet depth moulded, and is to have a mean draft with freight, passengers and coal, of ten feet. Her arrangement is similar to that of most vessels of this class. She carries her freight forward on the main deck, the after end of the main deck being devoted to a social hall, aft of which will be the dining saloon. The next deck above the saloon deck is devoted to staterooms, as is the upper or gallery deck. There are large wells in the gallery deck surrounded by a bronze railing finished in green, and the ceiling over the gallery deck has a dome.

The hull is entirely constructed of steel with numerous water-tight bulkheads and the fire rooms are entirely enclosed in steel. The dining room on the main deck is a very spacious apartment and has extra windows. The guests are to be seated at small tables. The social hall is to be floored with interlocking rubber tiling and to be finished in mahogany. The purser's office opens from the social hall. The balance of the joiner work is to be finished in white, and all of the fittings, such as electric light fixtures and hardware, will be in bronze and antique. The general tone of the interior will be white and green.

The Belfast will have 204 staterooms. Provision is made for those not desiring staterooms, there being 135 bunks below the main deck forward for men and 87 bunks below the dining saloon aft for women. The galley, or kitchen, which will be equipped with the usual ranges, steam tables, etc., is below the social hall and is entered from the dining room by a broad stairway. Ample provision has been made for ventilation.

The Belfast will have two pole masts of steel and two smokestacks. A somewhat novel arrangement is that of the guards, which, instead of being supported by diagonal braces, as is usually the case, are supported by bent frames, the shell plating being carried out over them so as to present a smooth surface to the sea, also providing buoyancy. The Belfast is to be thoroughly equipped with life boats, life preservers, fire handling apparatus, etc. The steamer will be, of course, heated throughout with steam. Much attention has been paid to the arrangement of the steam heat in order to provide an equable and comfortable temperature in all seasons. Close attention has also been paid to the matter of ventilation. The Belfast is to be propelled by three screws driven by Parsons marine turbines, the high pressure turbine being on the middle shaft and the low pressure turbines on the side or wing shafts. The low pressure turbines are equipped with backing gear so that the two outboard propellers may be reversed. The outboard shafts are arranged to be somewhat widely apart in order to provide ease in handling. The turbine mechanism is equipped with the usual condenser, air pumps, circulating pumps, oil pumps, etc.

Steam is to be furnished by four three-furnace Scotch boilers 14 feet, 6 inches in diameter and 12 feet long, built for 150 pounds working pressure. The Ellis & Eaves system of hot draft is to be installed. The propelling installation of the Belfast is expected to develop about 4000 horsepower, which will produce a speed of seventeen knots.

Foley's Honey and Tar clears the air passages, stops the irritation in the throat, soothes the inflamed membranes, and the most obstinate cough disappears. Sore and inflamed lungs are healed and strengthened, and the cold is expelled from the system. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. Sold by all druggists.

EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY OF THE UNITED STATES

You have determined to insure Some day. Let This be the day, it may be too late some other day

Prompt action is desirable (1) because the older a man grows the higher the charge, and (2) because delays are dangerous. Upwards of 6,000 of the Society's policyholders die in 1907. Of these more than 100 had been insured for less than a year. In one case the insurance had run for only four days.

Many persons who could have obtained policies when first invited to insure were declined by the Society in 1907 on account of impaired health.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

A good close look at the inner workings of machine politics, how the "wheelmen go round," who starts 'em and who greases 'em this is promised in Mr. George Broadhurst's new play, "The Man of the Hour," which comes to the Farwell opera house, tomorrow night, Nov. 18. Mr. Broadhurst says he has not gone to the magazines and the newspapers for second hand accounts of the men and the affairs his play depicts, but that he has taken people and events out of local municipal politics, paid for. All seats remaining after eight will be sold.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.
In addition to the gorgeous scenery, wonderful mechanical and startling electrical effects used in Al. W. Martin's Uncle Tom's Cabin which comes to the Farwell opera house for matinee and night, next Friday, Nov. 20, may be mentioned the unusual number of high class specialties which will be introduced during the action of the play and also between the acts. With this company there is the International Quartette of all male voices which is said to be worth the small price of admission. Owing to the matinee performance the big street parade will be omitted, and only a short parade will be given on Main street, with concert at noon and at night. Don't fail to hear the concert given by the Al. W. Martin's challenge concert band both at noon and night. Matinee at 2:15 sharp with big bargain prices of 10 and 25 cents and 10, 20 and 25 cent prices at night, something never before done with such an attraction. Seats on sale Thursday morning. Don't fail to hear concert at noon and remember the big parade will be omitted on account of the matinee.

MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM.
"By far the cleanest and most amusing farce comedy presented in America in the past twenty years" was the comment of an eminent New York city critic, while leaving the Madison square theatre after just having witnessed a performance of "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," the now famous mirth provoker which the local manager has secured as the attraction at Farwell opera house on Monday, Nov. 23. Its great success in New York was duplicated all over the country last season and this year the brilliant farce is in greater popular favor than ever before. Interpreted by Miss Lavinia Shannon and a clever coterie of associate players, the domestic troubles of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Temple, unwittingly increased by their well meaning friend Frank Fuller, are the means of distributing more clean, genuine, healthy laughter over the country than all of the comic weeklies and monthlies combined.

and put them on the stage in a way that will leave little doubt as to whom and what he is talking about behind the footlights. There is a thread of love interest running through the play which concerns the upright mayor and the niece of the financier. Four acts are used in working out the story through some stormy scenes, and presented the same great cast that appeared for months at Tremont theatre, Boston which includes some of the best actors and actresses on the American stage, among them being Charles D. Mackay, Wm. Volcott, Edw. Le Saint, Hapley Holmes, Harold Russell, John Butler, Samuel Hunt, Albert Parker,

KEITH'S BOSTON TRINITY
Over 125,000 People Weekly Now Entertained By Him Under One Roof.

The largest combination of amusement enterprises ever conducted by one man in this city, actually began the season of 1908-9, Oct. 15th, when B. F. Keith presented in the Boston theatre that splendid production of Southern's play "If I Were King." He introduced to the Boston public one of the very best stock companies ever organized, for which he has secured the most important dramatic productions of the day, and placed it side by side with two other enterprises, which have become recognized as Boston institutions as firmly established as the Old South Meeting House or Faneuil Hall. "The Boston, Bijou and Keith's" is a phrase synonymous for all that is high class, wholesome and entertaining in Boston amusements, three beautiful theatres, each in its own way the finest and most modern, it may be said, in the United States, all practically under one roof, as well as under the direction of one man, for they are connected so that you may go from one to the other without reaching the street, and the Bijou Theatre employs its thousands of patrons into both the Boston and Keith's.

The Boston Theatre is the largest in the city, and rich in the traditions of the stage; spacious and grand, with generous sweep of stairways and balconies, now modernized and made more beautiful by the expenditure of many thousands of dollars, and it still retains the lines that have been the admiration of architects for generations. Here the Boston Theatre Stock Company, the names of the members of which are household words in the Hub, are enabled by Mr. Keith to give performances of plays at popular prices, that in many instances out-do the original productions. Over 6,000 Bostonians regularly subscribe for these performances, occupying the same seats on the same days, each week, and a visit to Boston, without seeing the Stock Company, would be as incomplete, as a failure to see the vaudeville at Keith's. Between these two theatres, and connected with them, is the Bijou Theatre, the house in which Mr. Keith laid the foundation of his fortune, and now devoted to the newest kind of amusement. It is the Boston link in the chain of moving picture houses controlled by Mr. Keith, just as Keith's Theatre, adjoining, is the Boston link in his extensive circuit of vaudeville theatres, reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Both houses being located in Mr. Keith's home city, set the standard for all the others. The Boston Theatre with its stock company has now been placed upon the same high plane, under the personal direction of Mr. Keith. He has organized what is admitted to be the best stock company this country has ever seen, and regardless of expense, is securing the latest successes which he gives at popular prices, within a very few months after they have been presented at the highest prices in other theatres.

Some idea of the importance of the combination of enterprises, and the part it plays in the amusement of Bostonians, may be gained from the fact that over 125,000 people attend these theatres every week.

The opening night of the Boston Theatre Stock Company is the event of the theatrical season in the Hub. The theatre is filled to overflowing, and the lobby fragrant with large banks of flowers, all of which are carried over the footlights, while every member of the company is obliged to respond to the applause with a speech. On the last night the farewell is equally impressive.

THE CALL OF THE OLD
Once more I stand in the untrammelled wild where I, in childhood's bygone, distant day, knew not such words as "craven" and "dodder," in the sweet innocence of care-free play, sang songs which I then understood and knew. How soon such things are past, and knowledge gives in later days no pleasures like those gone; the mortal moves, and thinks and lives. The surging years of life flow on.
And so, in this untrammelled wild I stand and see as in those days of old. The man of the world's calling, as a child, building his castle of the sunset's gold. And he knows all around me still I see. The past, as masterpieces by some unseen hand. The distant hill, the nearer grassy lea. By summer's breeze fanned. Its part and portion of it all I seemed. To feel myself when life was fresh and new, of all life's tragedies and woes I had not dreamed. Until the passing years brought them to view.
—BERNARD A. FITZMAN.

GERMAN TELEGRAPH CENSUS.

Shows Why United States With Twice the Population Sends Only Half as Many Messages as Great Britain.
An investigation just completed by the German government shows that Great Britain sends the largest number of telegraph messages, 7,000,000,000. The United States, with twice the population of the United Kingdom, sends only 65,000,000 messages, Germany 52,000,000 and France 58,000,000. The position of the United States in the next telegraph census will no doubt be improved by the quick, low cost service of the new telegraph company, the Telepost.

The United States has 1,155,429 miles of telegraph wire, four times as much as the United Kingdom, but the American companies earn only $24 per mile against earnings of $50.00 in Great Britain, where the average cost per message is only 15 cents as compared to an average cost of 32 cents here.

In Germany the government lines find it profitable to carry a ten word message between any two points in twenty-five words. This is the rule upon which the Telepost will operate here—a flat rate of twenty-five words for 25 cents between all points. The success of the German system appears to confirm the wisdom of the Telepost in making a rate without regard to distance. With the largely increased business that is shown to be the result of low rates and good service and with the economies made possible by the Telepost's automatic system, experts who have studied the question believe that the new company will make a larger profit at 25 cents for twenty-five words than the old companies make at much higher rates.

THE MOST NOURISHING FOOD.

Dietists Say That It is Current Bread. New Ways of Making This Staple.
Some of the most distinguished diet specialists in the world assert that current bread is the most nourishing article of diet that can be as regularly eaten as white bread. White bread made with a liberal quantity of dried currants is already very popular. Here are two new recipes for making currant bread with whole wheat flour and with potatoes:
Scald (do not boil) one and a half cups sweet milk and one cup water. When tepid add one-half cake compressed yeast after soaking ten minutes in cool water, two tablespoonsful of sugar and a teaspoonful of salt. Stir in enough whole wheat flour to make a stiff batter. Allow to rise—three hours is long enough if kept warm—overnight if cool. When light add one egg, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one cup of cleaned and dried currants. Beat well, then add whole wheat flour to make a soft dough. Work well, mold into two loaves, place in greased pans, brush over with melted butter, let rise until light and then bake in hot oven.

Boil one medium sized potato in a quart of water until soft. Scald one small cup of flour with the hot potato water and add mashed potato beaten thoroughly to prevent lumps. When cold add one cake compressed yeast soaked in a little cold water. Let stand six hours to rise, then add one pint warm water, one pound thoroughly washed currants, one tablespoonful of lard, salt, two beaten eggs, one cup brown sugar, cinnamon if desired and flour to make a stiff dough. Knead ten minutes, put into covered pan in a warm place to stand overnight. Bake in the usual way.

The Holy Grail.
From a book reviewed a passage is quoted in which mention is made of "the holy grail, the sang-real or true blood of God." This used to be a common mistake, and so learned a man as Thomas Watson in his "Remarks on Spenser's Imitations From Old Romances" writes, "The holy grail, that is the real blood of our Blessed Saviour." But this is wrong. It is the holy grail, or vessel, and does not mean real blood, though it contained the real blood collected by Joseph of Arimathea. It was made from a diamond and emerald which fell from the crown of Satan when he fought with Michael. M. de Villenarque, who has written about Armoric legends, says that this jewel was a diamond. The word grail is old French, as I understand, for I have no knowledge myself that it is so. In the legend of Percival it is shown that the grail is a vessel. "The holy grail" Percival heard whispered by one voice after another. Then from the shining vessel streamed an endless supply of the costliest dishes and wines.—London Notes and Queries.

A Poor Defense.

'Well, it tastes like it,' said the master, and he set down his glass with a wry face. 'Oh, no, sir,' said the valet excitedly. 'In the first place, sir, I never drink wine; in the second place, when I do drink it I never think of filling the bottle up with water, and, in the third place, when I do put water in I always am very careful to add a little brandy so that the wine may not lose its strength.'"
